Frutillar, Los Lagos

Self-taught web developer with experience in React, Next.js, and JavaScript. Currently expanding my skills in ASP.Net and C++ to tackle more challenging projects. I have developed and launched my own projects, demonstrating my ability to transform ideas into functional solutions. Passionate about continuous learning and creating applications that not only work but make a difference. Seeking opportunities where I can contribute with my creativity and technical skills while continuing to grow professionally

PROJECTS

Frutillar Pymes

Project carried out for the community of Frutillar, aimed at bringing together all small businesses into a single web application for greater visibility and awareness. It features a star-based rating system, a comments section, and a category-based search function

ConstruSierra

Landing page for an international client in Spain. It includes a self-manageable section for completed projects

BSG E-commerce

Complete online store, with orders directed to the corresponding WhatsApp
